CHA Chief Financial Officer Michael Moran said the budget allows CHA to achieve its key goals of preserving public housing, investing in additional subsidized and affordable housing opportunities, and increasing funding for critical programs and services that benefit residents.

“CHA’s budget is balanced and our financial position is solid,” Moran said. “Our continued fiscal stewardship is reaffirmed by strong bond ratings and clean financial and operational audits.”

Included in the FY2025 budget is CHA’s updated 5-year capital plan. In 2025, CHA is budgeting more than $195 million towards capital projects, including completion of the Restore Home initiative.
